Embracing Change*

Executive Summary

FY2024 Second Quarter Results

-  Prinova Group profits declined due to ongoing challenging conditions in the manufacturing and allowance for doubtful accounts.
-  Nagase Viita profit declined due to weak sales in Functional Materials for cosmetics due to sluggish demand in China, the final consumption market
-  Trading business performed well in the Functional Materials, Advanced Materials & Processing, and Electronics & Energy segments due to moderate recovery in the semiconductor, electrical appliances and electronics industries, and other industries
-  Sales were strong for Nagase ChemteX formulated epoxy resin used in semiconductors for high-end servers in the generative AI market
-  We contributed to narrowing operating losses by withdrawing from the color formers business in the U.S., where we suffered large deficits, as part of our efforts in the Improve Area
 - We expect to improve profitability through ROIC management and increase gross profit margin from 17.5% to 19.2%

FY2024 Earnings Projections

-  We forecast the lower-than-expected performance in the manufacturing business in the Prinova Group to continue in the second half of the year
-  We plan to add production lines, anticipating that sales of formulated epoxy resins for high-end server semiconductors (e.g., those used in generative AI) will remain strong in the second half of the year.
 - Our expectation to post record-high operating income remains unchanged, with no revisions to our overall consolidated forecast, despite performance variations across segments (individual segment forecasts remain subject to revision).

Medium-Term Management Plan ACE 2.0

- Growth strategy initiatives
- Change in shareholder returns (increase in dividend for FY2024)
- Revision of Materiality to achieve sustainability

FY2024 Earnings Projection

- ▶ While our full-year earnings forecast remains unchanged in light of the following circumstances, we revised the forecast for each segment
- ▶ Semiconductor-related businesses performed well, driven by a moderate recovery in market conditions and higher-than-expected demand for generative AI
- ▶ Automobile-related businesses performed well due to rising market conditions and increased sales of highly profitable functional materials and components, despite slightly sluggish growth in automobile production volume
- ▶ Resin sales remained strong due to a stronger-than-expected recovery in demand from the electrical appliances and electronics industries, including office automation and smartphones
- ▶ We do not anticipate a full-year recovery in food-related businesses, primarily due to weak performance in the Prinova Group
- ▶ We expect selling, general and administrative expenses to increase overall with business growth and other factors, even though the amortization expense of retirement benefit actuarial differences will decrease (Retirement benefit actuarial differences: Approx. ¥0.9 billion expense in fiscal 2023 and approx. ¥3.5 billion income in fiscal 2024)
